Further Information:

In the first half of June we had some strong thunderstorm precipitations, but since June 13th nearly no rainfall. So water supply of hops is still tight.

Development of the hop plants is still ahead to average. Early aroma varieties like Hallertauer Mittelfrueh or Saphir are partially already developing cones. Plant stand of our main variety Tett nang is average. Late-ripening varieties look good.

Hop fields in the area are in good health. Pest and disease pressure is low.
